DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

It is noted that the claims of the instant application have been determined to include linking claims. Claim 1 link(s) inventions I-IV, as set forth below. The restriction requirement among the linked inventions is subject to the nonallowance of the linking claim(s), claim 1. Upon the allowance of the linking claim(s), the restriction requirement as to the linked inventions shall be withdrawn and any claim(s) depending from or otherwise including all the limitations of the allowable linking claim(s) will be entitled to examination in the instant application. Applicant(s) are advised that if any such claim(s) depending from or including all the limitations of the allowable linking claim(s) is/ are presented in a continuation or divisional application, the claims of the continuation or divisional application may be subject to provisional statutory and/or nonstatutory double patenting rejections over the claims of the instant application. Where a restriction requirement is withdrawn, the provisions of 35 U.S.C. 121 are no longer applicable. In re Ziegler, 44 F.2d 1211, 1215, 170 USPQ 129, 131-32 (CCPA 1971). See also MPEP § 804.01.

Group I, claim(s) 2-5 and 11, as specifically drawn to a method of inhibiting a receptor tyrosine kinase (RTK) in a mammal comprising administering an extracellular RTK antagonist and an intracellular RTK antagonist to the mammal, wherein said RTK is EGFR.

Group II, claim(s) 6, 7, and 11, as specifically drawn to a method of inhibiting a receptor tyrosine kinase (RTK) in a mammal comprising administering an extracellular RTK antagonist and an intracellular RTK antagonist to the mammal, wherein said RTK is a HER2 receptor.

Group III, claim(s) 8, 9, and 11, as specifically drawn to a method of inhibiting a receptor tyrosine kinase (RTK) in a mammal comprising administering an extracellular RTK antagonist and an intracellular RTK antagonist to the mammal, wherein said RTK is VEGFR.

Group IV, claim(s) 10-11, as specifically drawn to a method of inhibiting a receptor tyrosine kinase (RTK) in a mammal comprising administering an extracellular RTK antagonist and an intracellular RTK antagonist to the mammal, wherein said RTK is RAS or a RAS-Raf modulator.

It is noted that the claims of the instant application have been determined to include linking claims. Claim 12 link(s) inventions V-VIII, as set forth below. The restriction requirement among the linked inventions is subject to the nonallowance of the linking claim(s), claim 12. Upon the allowance of the linking claim(s), the restriction requirement as to the linked inventions shall be withdrawn and any claim(s) depending from or otherwise including all the limitations of the allowable linking claim(s) will be entitled to examination in the instant application. Applicant(s) are advised that if any such claim(s) depending from or including all the limitations of the allowable linking claim(s) is/ are presented in a continuation or divisional application, the claims of the continuation or divisional application may be subject to provisional statutory and/or nonstatutory double patenting rejections over the claims of the instant application. Where a restriction requirement is withdrawn, the provisions of 35 U.S.C. 121 are no longer applicable. In re Ziegler, 44 F.2d 1211, 1215, 170 USPQ 129, 131-32 (CCPA 1971). See also MPEP § 804.01.

Group V, claim(s) 13-15 and 21, as specifically drawn to a pharmaceutical composition comprising an extracellular RTK antagonist and an intracellular RTK antagonist wherein said RTK is EGFR.

Group VI, claim(s) 16, 17, and 21, as specifically drawn to a pharmaceutical composition comprising an extracellular RTK antagonist and an intracellular RTK antagonist wherein said RTK is a HER2 receptor.

Group VII, claim(s) 18, 19, and 21, as specifically drawn to a pharmaceutical composition comprising an extracellular RTK antagonist and an intracellular RTK antagonist wherein said RTK is VEGFR.

Group VIII, claim(s) 20-21, as specifically drawn to a pharmaceutical composition comprising an extracellular RTK antagonist and an intracellular RTK antagonist wherein said RTK is RAS protein or a RAS-Raf modulator.

The inventions listed as groups I-VIII do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

The technical feature linking groups I-VIII appears to be that they all relate to the special technical feature of a method of inhibiting a RTK in a mammal comprising administering an extracellular RTK antagonist and an intracellular RTK antagonist to said mammal.

However, Moulder et al (Cancer Research, 12/15/01, 61(24): 8887-95) teaches a method of inhibiting a RTK in a mammal comprising administering an extracellular RTK antagonist and an intracellular RTK antagonist to said mammal (Figure 8, in particular).

Therefore, the technical feature linking the inventions of groups I-VIII does not constitute a special technical feature as defined by PCT Rule 13.2, as it does not define a contribution over the prior art.

Accordingly, groups I-VIII are not so linked by the same or a corresponding special technical feature as to form a single general inventive concept.

Species

This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

Claims 1-21 are generic to a plurality of disclosed patentably distinct species of "intracellular RTK antagonists" comprising the following: ZD1939 and OSI-774 Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: The species represent separate and distinct products which are made by materially different methods, and are used in materially different methods which have different modes of operation, different functions and different effects. Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Claims 1-21 are generic to a plurality of disclosed patentably distinct species of "extracellular RTK antagonists" comprising the following: ABX-EGF; EMD 72000; h-R3; and Y10. The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: The species represent separate and distinct products which are made by materially different methods, and are used in materially different methods which have different modes of operation, different functions and different effects. Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).
